

In an effort to best serve the current and future needs of the Kent City community, the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) is requesting input from residents and local business owners. Community input is vital to the direction and growth of Kent City. We ask that you take a brief few moments to complete the following survey to help give some guidance as to the desired focus of future improvements to our business district. Thank you for your time and input to the future of our community. To see more about the DDA, past improvements, and future projects, please visit kentcity.org.
